FRENCH UNITY: Worth Waiting for

Although General Giraud and General DeGaulle at first could not agree any better at close range in Algiers than they had at long range between Africa and London, Allied leaders were confident that factional gulfs would be hurdled and iongnoped-for French unity would be consummated. This optimistic view was justified when a "French committee of national liberation," headed jointly by Generals De Gaulle and Giraud, was formally established to "pursue the war at the side of the Allies until total victory over the enemy pow-

In his brief statement the President did not consider the possibility that his order might be ignored. But measures of a stern and effective nature were open to him and the force of public opinion was mar-shaled overwhelmingly behind him -in the event of continued mine work stoppage.

The President's order had completely supported the War Labor board which Mr. Lewis and his Unit-ed Mine Workers had defied, setting forth plainly that "Just as soon as the miners return to work, the disposition of the dispute . . . will forthwith proceed under the jurisdiction of the War Labor board."

Neutrality at Stake?

While close censorship had veiled early reports of the "military movein Argentina, observers were confident that it concerned the course of the nation's future international policy-whether the government would pursue its trend of benevolent neutrality toward the Axis, or would follow the rest of South America in breaking with the Axis.

The military reaction gained added significance, coming as it did on the eve of the Conservative party's naconvention preceding Presidential elections. For this convention had been scheduled to proclaim Senate President Robustiano Patron Costas as its candidate. Costas had been endorsed by "neutrality-ininded" President Ramon

TRADE PACTS:

Two Years More

Final approval by the senate of President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade agreements program came after administration supporters, ald-ed by some Republicans, defeated five amendments that would have restricted the President's authority. The house had previously voted favorably.

The President had originally asked for a three-year extension. But because this would throw the policy into the next presidential administration for more than a year, both house and senate measures cut it to two years. The senate's action, however, meant that members of the United Nations could be assured that this government's present trade policy would be continued until June 12, 1945, or nearly five months after the next presidential inauguration.

I belleve my own exclamation, "but, general" is typical of some of those "buts" which have arisen in your minds.

America is the super-duper land of inventive genius, business genius, organizing genius, mass production, high standard of living, assembly line, giant industry, efficiency, wealth, central heating, apple pie and unlimited opportunity. True, we got our first real drubblng at Pearl Harbor but we came back; the British were licked at Singapore, too, but they won the battle of Britain. Latterly, we collaborated in the smashing victory of Tunisia the Russians beat 'em at Stalingrad, the Chinese have held 'em off for what secms a lifetlme. then . . .?

The general looked a little weary but he went on politely—I can't quote all he said but will give you the parts the OWI says is "okeh." 'The enemy has the biggest, most effective fighting force in history Biggest? But America and Rus-. and Australia?

In cold numbers, the enemy still is still well equipped, well trained, well co-ordinated, can operate under adverse conditions and in the face of terrific hardships which our troops are just now beginning to master.

That is a brief sum up of the enemy land forces from a military man's point of vlew. As to the enemy naval forces.

The Germans have, though you may not have realized from recent news, a small but highly specialized navy still afloat, plus the sub!

The submarine is still the biggest Allied problem. Submarines are tough animals now. Our own are tough enough and these animals are the German specialty. Depth bombs have to go deep to do any Undersecretary of Now the subs can crash dive, shiver back they can! They are mounted with guns, they can stand up to an escort ship, at least a corvette, and It takes a destroyer or a fast cruiser to catch them even when they stay on the surface where they can re-turn fire. The small stuff (30 callber) bounces off their scales.

Japan's Navy

The surface ships which Germany has are not so much of a factor. But Japan's navy is still to be reck-oned with. It is not destroyed but it has to be before we can achieve victory in the Pacific. Just taking islands won't do the job—and see how long it took to take an island, first Guadalcanal; now (almost at this writing) Attu.

Airforce: America now leads the world. But remember Germany was the first to build a supreme ''luftwaffe" and that luftwaffe and the men who mada it are not all dead the responsibilities of citizenship.

The enemy has had its best men in the army a long time—its replacements are not as good as ours will Much of the enemy-held territory has a hostile population which will work with the Allies against the enemy when we move in. Japan and Germany will fall on critical materials before we willwe can beat them at their own game of "ersatz," too; witness synthetic rubber. We can manufacture and bulld faster because we have more to do it with than they have. Our bome front is farther away from the battle front—and it is more in sympathy with the government, despite political difficulties.

But remember the "buts."

War Stimulates Changes in Education

One of the many changes which the war has stimulated is the change in education. Education is going to count more after the war. Many boys will come back partially trained in trades and professions which they can follow if they have the additional theoretical and practlcal instruction necessary to them for the stiff competition which ls expected.

As a result, college entrance examination requirements will be greatly altered for many of these men will lack the traditional preregulsites. Reform in this field is one of the 11 major objectives, discussed in a report of the commis-sion on liberal education of the Association of American Colleges. "If an educational program is to be of genuine service to the men and women of the post-war world," the report of the college committee says, "It must perform two func-tions simultaneously. It must take them as they are and appeal to their immediate desires and special needs, and it must provide for their common and enduring needs in a post-war society." It will be recalled that the boom after the last war created the coonskin collegian and the flapper coed The word "collegiate" had a meaning then which took it far afield from the cloister of learning. The crop of students-veterans-will be more aerlous. They must be taken more seriously. FEDERAL ACTIVITIES IN AMERICAN BUSINESS

IT SEEMS ONLY A FEW SHORT YEARS AGO, but it was in the early twenties, that I was in Washington attending hearings on a bili which, if enacted, would have taken the government out of the business of competing with private enterprise. The desired iaw would have stopped the government from printing envelopes. That blll never got onto the floor of the house, aithough Demo-cratic members of the committee alt voted to report it favorably.

The government's competition with the job printing offices of the early twenties was but peanuts as compared with the government's businesa ramifications of today, ex-ciusive of the conduct of the war or the routine of conducting the government.

There seems no way of determining how extensively the federal government has engaged in business, thus competing with its citizens, or thousands of eases in which it has become a partner by supply-tng funds in exchange for stock holdings. Congress has attempted to get a report on the ramifica-tions, but without success. The Citlzens' Emergency Committee on Non-Defense Expenditures, after many months of research, assisted by Senator Byrd's committee, has dug out a total of 57 government corpora-tions, and that is not all, nor does tt include any of those in which the government has acquired a partnership by stock purchases.

Twenty-six of the 57 corporations represented a total investment of $35,129,000,000 on January t, 1943. That represents money borrowed on the government's guarantee but It is not included as a part of the na-tional debt. The additional stock sales of these 26 corporations for the present fiscal year, and for which the government is obligated, amount to more than the total net farm income of $10,200,000,000 for last year.

The 57 corporations offer competition for private business in many llnes, including banking, building and loan, transportation, both rail and water, sale of electrical appli-ances, erop and other insurance, including bank deposits, sale of metais and minerals, manufacture of cement, manufacture of rubber, partnership in hotels, business and office buildings, production of apruce

These 57 government corporations, which are competing with pri-vately owned business, pay no taxes and have no interest charges. Thirty-two of them are not subject to an audit of any klnd. Several of them loan money on farm and home reat estate and have foreclosed on mortgages to a total valuation of $5.638,-000,000. The property acquired under foreclosure is offered for saie at nominal prices, thus depreciating other farm and home values.

MR. AMERICAN FARMER -NUMBER ONE BUSINESSMAN

SOME SIX YEARS AGO, Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manylile told me he was working at the job of "selling agriculture to industry."
"Why not also sell industry to agriculture?" I asked. "Why not show the farmer that he is an important part of business?"

The fact is, agriculture is as much a part of American business as is the building of automobiles or any other manufactured product. The farm is but a factory. Its raw ma-terials are rain, sunshine and earth. Out of these ingredients it produces corn and wheat and many other manufactured products. It processes these products into pork, beef and

Yes, the farm is a factory, our most essential manufacturing and processing plant. Should the farm plants close, no others could long survive. The farm is the founda-tion on which business of the world is built and the farmer is No. 1 among our business people. He should be recognized as such by himself, as well as by others.

BUDDING BUREAUS IN WASHINGTON, BUREAUS grow with the rapidity of Jack's beanstatk. I knew the office of information of the department of agriculture when it consisted of three people. That was in t913. In 1917, the occasion for the department ceased to exist, but the department continued. An appropriation of more than one million and a haif dollars ta asked for it for 1944. I wonder

One Whole Chicken Can Be Made Into Two Meals

You're the clever homemaker who saves on chicken by using only haif a colchen for roasting. You can have the stuffing, too, by mounding tt under the chicken when you roast it in the pan to get all the wonderful flavor of the meat in it.

Most families are so reduced that few homemakers find it necessary to stew or roast a whole chicken for their meals. In-stead, it's much smarter to use one half of the chieken for stew ing, the other half for roasting, or perhaps in making numerous and delicious dishes using cut up chieken.

Chieken is a good source of pro-tein and we can use it in place of meat dishes regularly. In addition it's a delicious food that combines well with many other types of food, and goes with most vegetables and fruits in the menu.

Consider, for example, many of the chicken saiads which can be made up with fruits or vegetables, and for sandwich fillings. Then, too, you ean serve chicken cither warm or cold with many vegetables and fruits, as a good start on getting what you need of the seven basic food groups necessary to health. You probably have your own way of stewing and roasting chicken, but inatend of using one whole chicken for either of these methods, split it, use one half for stewing, the other for roasting.

Cut the fowl in haif, lengthwise, and cook one half with severat carrots, celery, parsley, onion, and seasonings in enough water to cov-er until tender. Make dumplings, if you like, to go with the stew.

Arrange dressing to keep outline of chicken. Press cooked half of chicken cut side down over dressing. Brush chicken with melted fat. Bake uncovered in a hot oven (400 degrees) until chicken is nicely browned, about ½ hour.

A few leftover pieces of chicken either from the roast or from stew ing can go into a salad. You'll like this combination with fruit:

Chieken and Fruit Saiad Bowi. (Serves 4 to 6)

1 cup dleed ehicken

1/2 teaspoon salt

11/2 eups seedless grapes 2 oranges, peeled and sectioned 1/2 cup bianched almonds French dressing

Still another way of stretching your meat, or chicken, if there is absolutely enough to go around is to serve it with potato salad. You may like it hot or you may like it coid. Here's one that's hot:

Lynn Says:

The Seore Card: Ceiling prices have been announced on many rationed foods, and it's a good idea to consult the lists when you go shopping. It will help you n buying and budgeting.

Most of the times we're con-cerned with buying foods in sea-son, but it's more important to buy in season now when you're preparing to put up foods for the fall and winter.

In case you don't have your own garden, you might be of help in picking vegetables and fruits to some farmer who does not have enough heip. If you are canning, this is a splendid way of getting fresh produce.

Those of you city dwellers who can neither have your own Victory garden or help pick produce should get to the market early to get as fresh produce as possible.

PAINFUL FEET

Whlle the word orthopedic means straightening of the feet, orthopedie physleians are consulted by patients who have any trouble with bones and joints of the entire body. That physicians would be of

with painful feet who Dr. Barton are not on their feet much are likely suffering with infection. In fact, some orthopedic physicians state that more than half of painful feet are due to infection. And when we think of the number of bones and joints In the feet, in which arthritis can get started, this is not hard to understand.

However, there are a great many eases of painful feet due to bearing the weight of the body.

In speaking of functional disorders of the feet (that is not due to discase or infection) Dr. D. J. Morton, New York, in the New York State Journal of Medicine, states that the eommonest cause of pain in sole of foot is because the inner bone of the sole of the foot, corresponding with big toe, is shorter than the other four bones and the ligaments supporting it are loose or not as tight as with the other bones in sole of foot. Thus pain here is just like pain in any other joint that is being constantly strained. In other words im-proper weight distribution, too much at this point, causes the pain.

Suggestions for treatment of painful feet are: (1) less work or play and weight bearing. (2) rest. (3) many short rests during the day 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Dr. Morton gives a helpfui working rule which is to assume (in general) that pain at top and sides of the foot is likely caused by the shoe; when pain is on the bottom of the foot, the trouble is generally inside the foot. An X-ray should be taken from top of foot to sole of both

Sulfa Drugs Reduce Influenza Death Rate

It is and the heart aiready damaged by influenza was unable to sustain the continued fight against pneumonia and bronchopneumonia, that so many victims died. Now that the physician has at hand the suifa drugs which have reduced the death rate in pneumonia from nearly 10 per cent to about 3 per cent, he is able to fight influenza and pneumonia successfutly.

Some interesting figures were recently released by Dr. Louis I, Dublin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The figures ahow that there has been a decrease in the death rate of influenza and pneumonia of 65 per cent from 1900 to 1940, that is from 202 per hundred thousand of the population in 1900 to

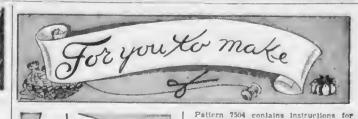

While this is gratifying, the use of the sulfa drugs during 1941 and 1942 has caused an even more rapid decrease.

How remarkable this drop in the death rate really is can only be realized by thinking of the rate decrease in the years 1900 to 1940, or before the general use of the sulfa drugs. For the general population, the decrease in the death rate from influenze and pneumonia has been at the rate of 11/2 per cent a year for the 40 years. During the last two years, judging the whole population by the millions of wage earners and their families of the Metropolitan Insurance company, the death rate has decreased more than 14 per cent a year. In other words, the sulfa drugs have decreased the death rate in influenza and pneumonia over nine times as much each of the last two years as in any of the previous 40

CHAPTER I

The sun would rise in a minute hour ago, then stopped at Jane Cabot's for an apple and a glass of sau-terne; and Robin felt light and ethereal and immensely well and happy. This was one of those June mornings. Potty Welsh noticed It. He murmured something about "... tries the earth if it be in tune," and Robin nodded happily and said: "It is, isn't it? I mean, in tune? I feel like Christmas morning when you were little and before you came downstairs. I feel as if something wonderful was about to happen."

"Maybe this is iti" Potty suggested, and made her stop to look and to smile. They were halfway across the Gardens, on the path beside the pond. Here was a young man asleep on one of the benches. His head was propped on a folded newspaper, his feet were hanging over the arm of the bench, and a cornucopia of newspaper that looked absurdly like a lily was tucked into the top of his vest under his clasped hands. He was in dinner clothes, flat on his back, smiling in his sleep; and Potty said cheerfully: "This is a terrible thing!"

Robin giggled. "Heavens to Bet syi But Potty, tha poor lamb will take his death of cold. We'll have to wake him."

"Better icave these inanimate objects iay," Potty urged. "If you nurse an adder in your bosom you're likely to get added. The fellow has been celebrating." She made a face at him. "Potty calling the kettle black? We really musti" She tugged at the young

She tugged at the young man's lapel. "What we all need," Robin decided, "is toast and coffee. We'll take him to my place, Potty." Potty demurred; but Potty was just a lay figure, fun enough but nothing serious. Robin insisted, and they piloted the young man to her small apartment. He demanded scrambled eggs on his toast and got them, and went promptly to sleep again, this time on the couch in the studio; and Potty said it was a public scandal and offered to put him out like a cat, and Robin said: "Oh, he's already out—like a light." Then she hurriedly apologized. "Sorry to be trite, Potty. I must be sleepy, or tired, or something. Run along.

Robin looked at the sleeping young man whose name she had forgotten to enquire and thought maternally that it was lucky she and Potty had come along in time to rescue him before he did catch cold. Then she went to bed, and when she woke a little past noon the young man was gone. But there was a note pinned to the couch.

"Fear not, queen," he had written. "I go, but 1 will return." The note was signed "Will." She liked It had character. Not Bill. that. Not Willie, Just Will. They dined together; and he was so sure of him-self and of her that Robin felt like a straw eaught up in a strong wind.

God's love showed itself in the giv ing of His Son as the Redeemer of the world. It was and is unselfish and sacrificial devotion to the eternal welfare of those who merited only judgment. We do not love until we reflect that quality in our lives.

Not only does the Christian no longer fear the day of judgment, but he is unafraid in the present evil world.
